2014 AAF Vance and Betty Lee Stickell Interns

Alexandra Waller
Allie is a wonderful, polite, friendly, and charismatic human being. Her smile is contagious. She is very eager to acquire new skills and always wants to know how she can do better to achieve the next level. No doubt she will have the advertising world on her hands.
- Alexandra Videh, James Madison University

Andrew Wood
I’m talking the kind of person you want in the batter’s box when it’s the bottom of the ninth, there’s a tie-game, two outs and a runner in scoring position. In advertising land, the person you want pitching your agency to that dream client you never thought you’d ever have the chance to get.
- Steven Hall, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Brad Inning
Brad is the most enthusiastic, very personable, highly ambitious and challenges himself and others to develop and produce great work. He seeks out “big ideas” to build brands, has a good appreciation of digital creative all while having the unique ability to sell his concepts.
- Kenneth Yedinak, Pennsylvania State University

Charlee Ottersburg
If self-motivation and curiosity makes a great intern, Charlee would fit the bill. She is an extremely motivated individual, always going beyond what is required. Instead of just turning in a project, Charlee creates an entire website of the project.
- Lori Smith, Marietta College

Clare Lagattuta
Doesn’t matter what problem, issue, task or the opportunity is – she’s there. Ready and able to move people in the best direction possible. Clare has single-handedly launched an array of new programs that bring outstanding value to the members.
- Steven Hall, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Jillian Garzon
Jill has a passion for exceeding expectations. She eagerly accepts and successfully completes any challenge that comes her way. She is reliable, dependable, and hard working. Jill Garzon has my highest regard.
- Stacy Sandowitz, The University of Scranton

Lauren Casarona
Lauren is leading the creative team, making sure they are working toward a common creative theme and idea, dealing with team issues, deadlines, brainstorming, and production. She continues to do all that she can to involve herself in as many learning experiences as possible and I know how serious she is about working in the advertising field.
- Craig Davis, Ohio University

Natasha Sanford
She is outgoing, responsible, self-motivated, inquisitive, and personable. Her presence is definitely a plus for team interactions – she is prepared, provides thoughtful critiques of ideas, and reminds colleagues that they don’t have to settle for mediocre options.
- Regina Waters, Drake University

Olivia Hottie
Whether it is a solid media plan based on sound strategy or a humorous superbowl spot competition, Olivia has demonstrated her talent, ambition, and strong personal character. She has great potential as a future media executive in the advertising world.
- Matthew Wilson, University of Northern Iowa

Samantha Villavicencio
She consistently comes up with creative ideas for class projects and can often be seen working on ideas for fun with classmates. Her enthusiasm is contagious and I know she will be a great Art Director one day.
- Alba Petrus, Miami International University of Art and Design

Tara Kennedy
A strong writer, proactive learner and highly motivated to take whatever advise and steps needed to move forward, all with a highly professional and positive attitude. Tara is outstanding.
- Lisa Dobbs, The University of Texas at Austin

Caitlyn Kayser
She is not afraid to make decisions. She is not hesitant in expressing her praise for a job well-done nor her disappointment over a job badly done. This is extremely important for those who aspire to a career in advertising.
- David Tarpehning, The University of Oklahoma

Matthew Tack
He can do more than talk about target markets, market segmentations, advertising and promotion; he can show you how to successfully integrate marketing concepts to solve business problems. He’s got what it takes to do great things.
- Kimberly DeSimone, St. Bonaventure University

Taylor Flynn
She is a self-motivated, mature, responsible student who truly welcomes a challenge. With her positive attitude and professional approach to problem solving and goal attainment, it comes as no surprise that she is an outstanding team member.
- Scott R. Hanlin, Ithaca College

Melissa Euter
Melissa is highly motivated. She is a proactive thinker and has a unique way of looking at most any situations. Her positive attitude spreads to those who work with her. She has a firm grasp on what is necessary to be successful in any field.
- Susan Daria, The University of Alabama
